

Wednesday, August 11 at 6:30 pm the Green Branch Library presents Cleveland TV legend “Big Chuck” Schodowski

Join us as he tells funny and surprising stories from a lifetime in television in his familiar, good-natured, Cleveland-to-the-bone style. He will also be available to sign books after his talk.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

“Big Chuck” Schodowski began his television career as an engineer at KYW Channel 3 in 1960, but quickly moved to a temporary position at WJW TV8, which lasted for 47 years.

Schodowski appeared in humorous sketches with Ernie “Ghoulardi” Anderson on the late-night TV show Shock Theater and eventually took over as co-host with Bob “Hoolihan” Wells, and later alongside Lil’ John Rinaldi on The Big Chuck & Lil’ John Show. He is the recipient of two-dozen local Emmys, numerous television and film awards, and a Grammy nomination.

Schodowski retired from television in 2007 but continues to make public appearances and host the annual Ghoulardifest.
