

Do you Sudoku? Show your skills at the first ever Akron Sudoku Tournament.

Saturday, November 10, 2012

Main Library Meeting Room 2AB, 1-4 pm

Here's how it works:

Sudoku enthusiasts compete to complete Sudoku puzzles provided by New York Times editor Will Shortz. The puzzles begin easy and get progressively harder. Prizes are awarded to the top three finalists.

There are three general rounds, plus a championship round. During each round, contestants have twenty minutes to solve three Sudoku puzzles. When finished (or when the time is up), the puzzles are collected and our judges score them. The top three finalists (top three cumulative scores) are announced after the third round. They then compete against each other in the championship round with the most difficult Sudoku puzzle on the auditorium stage.

For adults ages 18 and over, please. To register, e-mail popdiv@akronlibrary.org or call 330-643-9035.

Interpretive services are available. Please inquire.
